CMG'11 Is Coming!

Even though the weather is still cold and snow is falling in many places, it’s time to start planning for CMG’11. This year the conference will be held from Monday, December 5 through lunchtime Friday, December 9 at the Gaylord National, http://www.gaylordhotels.com/gaylord-national/, which is located near many historic sites in the Washington, DC area.

The schedule of the conference will be the same as last year – half-day workshops will be held Monday morning, with regular sessions being held from Monday afternoon through Friday morning.

If you work in the DC area, but can't get away from the office for the week, remember we do offer 1-day and 2-day passes.

CMG is an all-volunteer organization, so consider writing a paper or presentation for this year’s conference. Your paper will raise your visibility in the industry and serve as a powerful justification for your attending the conference. We are especially interested in user experiences and expertise in the cloud area.

If you would like to write a paper, the key dates to remember are the abstract deadline in mid-April and the complete paper deadline in late June. The abstracts are very important – they help your CMG Conference Committee do what it does best – resource planning and management, from both a conference and a program topic perspective.

The CMG’11 Conference landing page is http://www.cmg.org/conference/cmg2011/. We will be constantly adding new information about the conference until it actually occurs.

CMG looks forward to seeing you this December!

Ted McGavin
CMG’11 Conference Chair
cmggc@cmg.org